PROFILE

I am a 18-year-old developer who is passionate about coding and developing new projects. I started learning JavaScript for software development 3 years ago, and I'm currently focusing on enhancing my skills as a fullstack developer. I usually code and develop new projects (websites, bots, libraries, etc.). I have worked on various projects and I am looking for opportunities to work as a fullstack web developer and enhance my skills in software development. I am also open to working on new projects and collaborating with other developers.
